

150-foot folding container used on a construction site in Thailand

Overview

Why are container homes so popular in Thailand?

Container homes have become increasingly popular in Thailand due to their affordability, eco-friendliness, and versatility. They are a great alternative to traditional housing and can be designed to fit a variety of styles and purposes.

How to build a container house in Thailand?

When building a container house in Thailand, consider the following essential features to ensure your home is comfortable, functional, and sustainable:
Proper insulation: Thailand's tropical climate makes it important to properly insulate your container house to keep it cool and comfortable during hot and humid months.

How much does a container home cost in Thailand?

On average, a basic container home in Thailand can cost between 150,000 to 500,000 baht ($4,500 to $15,000 USD). However, if you want a larger and more customized container home, the cost can go up to 2 million baht ($60,000 USD) or more. It's important to note that the cost of land, permits, and utilities are not included in the above price range.

What is a container home?

Container Homes, also known as ISO Container Homes, can be created out of any type of shipping containers to make multiple units or single houses at relatively low prices compared to constructing a new building. We specialise in converting Containers into a number of different applications from single houses to large multi container complexes.
