Are aluminium framed glass partitions a good choice?

This makes aluminium-framed glass partitions ideal for office environments, where noise reduction and acoustic privacy is key to improve productivity and employee well-being. Aluminium frames are resistant to rust, tarnishing, and staining.

What is a modular glass partition wall?

This is a revolutionary modular glass partition wall design from IQUBX where a single system is designed to accommodate multiple glazing options. This glass partition system can accommodate single glass, double glass, even 3 glasses and Vacuum Insulated Glass (VIG), also called Double Glass Unit (DGU) too.

What is a single or double glazed wall?

The single or double glazed walls are not just a stylish glass partition wall, it is also an economical solution for your working environment. This is the only system, which allows installing glass panes horizontally in places where entrance is too small to fit large glass panels.

What is a single glazed window?

A single glazed window is constructed using a single pane of glass. This means that the only thing separating your home from the outside environment, is that pane of glass. Typical window glass ranges from 3mm to 10mm, which doesn't provide adequate insulation.
