

Super capacitor manufacturer in Auckland New Zealand

Overview

What is a supercapacitor?

A supercapacitor is a double-layer capacitor that has very high capacitance but low voltage limits. Supercapacitors store more energy than electrolytic capacitors and they are rated in farads (F). Supercapacitors store electrical energy at an electrode–electrolyte interface.

Who makes snap-in supercapacitors?

Founded in 1944 and headquartered in Kyoto, Japan, Murata Manufacturing Co., Ltd specializes in electronic components including capacitors, sensors and power supply modules counting among the world’s largest component makers with over $5 billion in revenues. Their lineup of snap-in supercapacitors includes: Supercapacitors for Memory Backup.

Do supercapacitors store more energy than electrolytic capacitors?

Supercapacitors store more energy than electrolytic capacitors and they are rated in farads (F). Supercapacitors store electrical energy at an electrode–electrolyte interface. They consist of two metal plates, which only are coated with a porous material known as activated carbon. As a result, they have a bigger area for storing much more charge.

How long does a supercapacitor last?

A supercapacitor’s lifetime spans 10 to 20 years, and the capacity might reduce from 100% to 80% after 10 or so years. Thanks to their low equivalent series resistance (ESR), supercapacitors provide high power density and high load currents to achieve almost instant charge in seconds.
