Overview

Can a solar-wind system meet future energy demands?

Accelerating energy transition towards renewables is central to net-zero emissions. However, building a global power system dominated by solar and wind energy presents immense challenges. Here, we demonstrate the potential of a globally interconnected solar-wind system to meet future electricity demands.

How much electricity can a solar-wind power plant generate?

Our estimates suggest that the total electricity generation from global interconnectable solar-wind potential could reach a staggering level of  $[237.33 \pm 1.95] \times 10^3$  TWh/year (mean  $\pm$  standard deviation; the standard deviation is due to climatic fluctuations).

What are the technical parameters of energy storage?

Two key technical parameters of energy storage are considered: the maximum operational power and the average storage duration. The round-trip efficiency of energy storage is set to 90%, referencing commercial storage technologies 63.

Where do grid-boxes contain solar and wind resources?

In densely populated regions such as western Europe, India, eastern China, and western United States, most grid-boxes contain solar and wind resources apt for interconnection (Supplementary Fig. S1). Nevertheless, these regions exhibit modest power generation potential, typically not exceeding 1.0 TWh/year (Fig. 1a).
